SUGGESTED INTERVIEW QUESTIONS
for Enough About Me

1. Why do you think women are so tired and discouraged in a culture where they are told they can have it all?
2. What impact does our current worldview have on our idea of truth and meaning?
3. What is good about having lots of choices (from everything to groceries to hair products to schools)? What can be bad about choice?
4. Do you believe that God only gives us what we can handle?
5. What are ways that you’ve seen people live out a “me-centered faith” instead of a “God-centered faith”? What’s the difference?
6. As women shop for self-help books and Bible studies, what advice do you have for them when choosing what to read and study?
7. How would you define the “believe in yourself gospel,” and how can women make sure that isn’t the gospel they believe in? Are there other false gospels that women today are likely to believe?
8. What would you consider to be “spiritual junk food” and how can women actually find true, lasting joy?
9. For women rooted in Christ, how can they go about renewing their minds? What are a few practical things they can do?
10. Do you believe that “pride is the enemy of hope”? Why or why not?

REVIEW COPIES/INTERVIEWS:
Lauren Harvey
lharvey@crossway.org
1 (630) 682-4300, ext. 6031