SUGGESTED INTERVIEW QUESTIONS
for Finding the Right Hills to Die On

1. What’s an example of a difficult theological disagreement you have navigated in your own life?

2. What is theological triage?

3. You describe a ranking system for doctrines, ranging from essential doctrines to indifferent (neither essential nor urgent). Can you explain this system and how it is useful for determining the importance of certain doctrines?

4. How important is it for Christians to love and embrace all Christians, even the ones we disagree with on many issues?

5. What is doctrinal minimalism? Is it something that you find prevalent in our culture today?

6. What are some healthy ways to have theological disagreements in your own church?

7. What’s wrong with the statement, “It’s not a gospel issue; it’s just a secondary issue”?

8. What advice do you have for pastors on navigating difficult theological differences among church members?

REVIEW COPIES/INTERVIEWS:
Lauren Harvey
lharvey@crossway.org
1 (630) 682-4300, ext. 6031