COME, LET US ADORE HIM BY PAUL DAVID TRIPP SURPASSES 100,000 IN PRINT WITH CROSSWAY

WHEATON, Ill.—Crossway is pleased to announce that Paul David Tripp’s book Come, Let Us Adore Him: A Daily Advent Devotional (Crossway, September 2017) has surpassed 100,000 units in print sales.

In the rush of trees, gifts, lights, and tinsel, the deeper wonder of Christmas can easily be overshadowed. At times, it is tempting to look forward primarily to favorite traditions as the most wonderful part of the season, while the most significant aspect—rejoicing in the coming of Jesus—grows old and familiar.

In Come, Let Us Adore Him, Tripp seeks to recapture and refocus readers’ awe on the glory of the incarnation of God’s Son and the grace of redemption that comes through Jesus Christ. Each of the thirty-one readings includes a gospel-centered thought with an extended meditation, a Scripture reading, and notes for parents and children.

“The birth of Jesus is a sure sign that God will act where we cannot act, and he will act with life-giving grace,” writes Tripp. “Celebrate that Jesus came to give life, because it’s the one gift we could never, ever give ourselves.”

Available in both hardcover and ebook formats, Come, Let Us Adore Him has received commendations from Ray Ortlund (pastor of Immanuel Church in Nashville), Elyse Fitzpatrick (author of Give Them Grace), and more.

“It’s not uncommon for me to hear friends and members of the church I pastor talk of how ‘Christmas snuck up on them,’” says Matt Chandler, pastor of The Village Church in Dallas. “Paul David Tripp has written a fantastic Advent devotional for individuals or families, and it’s the perfect solution for preparing our hearts and homes to celebrate what’s really going on underneath the tinsel and the trees.”

Tripp is also the author of New Morning Mercies, which has sold over 250,000 copies, and Parenting, which has sold over 100,000 copies. For more information about the author, visit paultripp.com.

WHAT PEOPLE ARE SAYING ABOUT COME, LET US ADORE HIM

“It’s not uncommon for me to hear friends and members of the church I pastor talk of how ‘Christmas snuck up on them.’ Paul David Tripp has written a fantastic Advent devotional for individuals or families, and it’s the perfect solution for preparing our hearts and homes to celebrate what’s really going on underneath the tinsel and the trees.”

—Matt Chandler, Lead Pastor, The Village Church, Dallas, Texas; President, Acts 29 Church Planting Network; author, The Mingling of Souls and The Explicit Gospel

“Paul David Tripp has the rare gift of conveying profound biblical truths in a simple and accessible manner. Come, Let Us Adore Him will help you prepare for the arrival of the Christ child on a deep level, no matter where you are currently in life.”

—William Vanderbloemen, CEO and President, The Vanderbloemen Search Group; author, Next: Pastoral Succession That Works

“Theology serves us best when it is translated into devotion. Paul David Tripp’s Come, Let Us Adore Him is that rare gem—great theology inspiring great devotion. This book will enrich my family’s experience of Christmas this year, and I believe it can enrich your Christmas too.”

—Ray Ortlund, Lead Pastor, Immanuel Church, Nashville, Tennessee

“In the chaos, inadequacies, and fears that all too often overshadow the Advent season, it is easy to forget that this day, above all other days, speaks of stillness, welcome, and assurance. It tells us that we have been, and are now, completely loved—no matter if we remember all the presents or if the lights on our tree won’t work. This devotional will help us remember the great love with which we have been loved. Read its pages, share it with your family. Enter into that manger scene. And breathe.”
